Bibliography of Bibliographies Related to Nepal

Introduction

This is the third version of the bibliography of book-length bibliographies related to Nepal. The earlier versions did not include online bibliographies and some shorter important items. The practice of making such bibliographies has a short history with respect to Nepal. To our knowledge, Nepal Bibliography, prepared by the American educator Hugh B. Wood and published in 1959, is the first of its kind. Prior to that some chapter-length bibliographies had been published (e.g., “A Bibliography of Nepal” compiled by C.J. Morris and published in 1931 in the Journal of the Royal Central Asian Society Vol. 18, pp. 547–559 is the earliest example known to us). In the 64 years since the publication of Wood’s bibliography, such book-length works of reference have been compiled by many other individuals and institutions, both inside and outside of Nepal. The trend of publishing online bibliographies has also started. However, a list of such works is not available anywhere. Hence we have tried to address this lacuna with this list of book-length and online bibliographies related to Nepal.

This bibliography only includes book-length published bibliographies, bibliographies that cover a significant portion of a book, and online bibliographies. While compiling this work, we have consulted all relevant previous works. We have also consulted the records of Tribhuvan University Central Library (TUCL), Madan Puraskar Library, Centre for Nepal and Asian Studies (CNAS) Library and Martin Chautari Library in Nepal. We have also consulted the online catalogs of some libraries based outside of Nepal including the US Library of Congress, Columbia University, University of Chicago, University of California at Berkeley, University of Pennsylvania and Cornell University.

We are aware that this work is incomplete. We might not have gained knowledge of relevant bibliographies due to limitations of our research or linguistic abilities. For suggestions regarding any corrections/additions that need to be made, please send an email to the third compiler: harsha.maharjan@gmail.com. We hope to update this bibliography from time to time.¹
